Subject Final Fall Events in the Provost's Lecture Series

Colleagues,

I wish to draw your attention to the final two events of the Fall Semester in the Provost's Lecture Series. There will be two presentations on Tuesday, November 13th.

Kevin Bales, Pulitzer-Prize nominee and Professor of Sociology, University of Surrey Roehampton, London, will speak on "Disposable People: New Slavery in the Global Economy." This event is co-sponsored by International Programs and will be held in Room 302 of the Student Activities Center beginning at 4:30 p.m.

In honor of French Week, there will be a presentation "All About French-Speaking Countries" beginning at 4:30 p.m. in the Student Activities Center Auditorium. The afternoon will feature musical performances by The French Quartet jazz group and Stony Brook students, as well as a presentation by Fabrice Jaumont, Attaché de Cooperation pour le Francais, French Embassy, Benoit Standaert, Belgian Consul, and Prosper Sanou, Professor of European Studies, Stony Brook.

Please publicize these events to any students you feel may be interested.

Thank you,
Robert McGrath, Provost and Exec VP for Academic Affairs
