***About the Keynote Speaker: Tom Matthews, director of leadership, educational development and training at the State University of New York at Geneseo and a longtime leader of United University Professions, was recently named Higher Education Member of the Year by New York State United Teachers. He has served as UUP's statewide treasurer, vice president for professionals and chief negotiator. He was president of UUP's Geneseo chapter for many years.

"Tom Matthews exemplifies what being a higher ed professional is, in every sense of the word," said NYSUT President Riccardo Iannuzzi. "He is committed to his campus and to his union."

Matthews has worked at SUNY Geneseo for 41 years. He runs two award-winning programs: The Geneseo Opportunities Leadership Development (GOLD) program and Livingston County CARES (Community Action Relief Efforts). The GOLD program, which offers leadership development to thousands of students each year, represents Geneseo's values of excellence, innovation, diversity and commitment to community. In 2006, the GOLD program received a bronze award from the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA).

Matthews also has been heavily involved in the collaborative program of Livingston County CARES, which includes the coordination of area religious institutions, local government and community members. The program won a national award in 2006 for its successful Hurricane Katrina relief efforts in Mississippi.
