

S.A.A.S. Students Against Administrative Silence

Whereas, the campus is leaving its students in the dark when it comes to their safety; and

Whereas, the administration is not implementing enough effective prevention against these crimes such as blue lights, extra lights, security personnel etc;

Be it resolved, by the Undergraduate Student Government and the Graduate Student Organization assembled in Senate on April 4th 2006:

That the administration shall effectively implement a plan for action of increasing the number of blue lights on campus; and

That there be an appropriate response to any incident that compromises the safety of students as cited in the Stony Brook Student Conduct Code; and

That the University shouldn't actively withhold information about incidents that are critical and important to student safety and security; and

That any information should be made publicly aware to the campus, as soon as possible, so that another event of similar character or worse does not occur, since the students are the most important commodity of the University in keeping with applicable laws.
