THEME UP AND OUT

There are few figures whose names and roles are known throughout the world. In the roll call of history, the list must include Leonid Brezhnev and Lech Wallesa. Today we will be talking about these two powerful figures on the world scene.

Hi, everybody. This is Al Oickle...and this is "Here at Stony Brook," a weekly program brought to you from the campus of the State University of New York, here at Stony Brook. We will be talking today about the late president of the Soviet Politburo, Leonid Brezhnev, and about the popular Polish labor leader, Lech Wallesa. Both have been in the news recently.

With me are two faculty members, here at Stony Brook. Gary Marker is an assistant professor in the Department of History. He earned his Ph.D. degree at the University of California at Berkeley. His academic specialty is Russian social and intellectual history. Dr. Marker, on the scale of Soviet leaders since the Revolution, how would you rate Leonid Brezhnev?

Also here today is Professor Edward J. Czerwinski, from the Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages and Literatures. He has his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin and his fields include Russian literature and comparative literature. Dr. Czerwinski, you have a special interest also in Poland.

INTERVIEW SHOULD COVER: 2 separate unrelated events
Brezhnev - his career and impact
Yuri Andropov
Lech Walesa
The Pope and Poland
Reagan and USSR/Poland
HERE AT STONY BROOK - Monday, Nov. 22, 1982

THEME UP AND OUT

There are few figures whose names and roles are known throughout the world. In the roll call of history, the list must include Leonid Brezhnev and Lech Wallesa. Today we will be talking about these two powerful figures on the world scene.

Hi, everybody. This is Al Oickle...and this is "Here at Stony Brook," a weekly program brought to you from the campus of the State University of New York, here at Stony Brook.

I will be talking today about the late president of the Soviet Politburo, Leonid Brezhnev, and about the popular Polish labor leader, Lech Wallesa. Both have been in the news recently.

With me are two faculty members, here at Stony Brook. Gary Marker is an assistant professor in the Department of History. He earned his Ph.D. degree at the University of California at Berkeley and his academic specialty is Russian social and intellectual history. Dr. Marker, on the scale of Soviet leaders since the Revolution, how would you rate Leonid Brezhnev?

Also here today is Professor Edwin J. Czerwinski, from the Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages and Literatures. He has his Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin and his fields include Russian literature and comparative literature. Dr. Czerwinski, you have a special interest also in Poland.

INTERVIEW SHOULD COVER: 2 separate unrelated events
Brezhnev - his career and impact
Yuri Andropov