Degrees awarded: MFA in Creative Writing and Literature

The MFA program in Writing and Literature at Stony Brook Southampton emphasizes creative work in fiction, poetry, and scriptwriting. However, the program also extends its emphasis beyond the familiar categories of creative expression to treat all forms of writing as equally relevant to understanding and mastering a world constructed out of words. In particular, the program broadens its interest to include forms of scientific writing—environmental, medical, technological—to draw benefits from the University’s well-established strength in science.

The 42 academic credits for the MFA program is divided among required courses that introduce students to the profession and discipline of writing and the skills necessary to teach writing to others; advanced writing workshops in a variety of writing genres; seminars designed to focus closely on an issue or type of contemporary writing; graduate-level literature courses; and an MFA thesis intended to be a publishable, book-length work. The program is offered in two academic semesters, two six-week summer sessions, and a credit-bearing writers conference.

Courses are taught by a full-time core faculty of three, joined by a part-time faculty of ten distinguished visiting writers whose teaching and lecturing assignments rotate among the fall, spring, and summer sessions. These distinguished visitors provide creative breadth to the writing program, offering coverage in areas of writing that are essential in contemporary society, in particular fiction, non-fiction, scriptwriting, scientific writing, and writing for the media.

Special Programs

Southampton Writers Conference

The MFA in Writing and Literature sponsors the Southampton Writers Conference, an intensive program of three-credit workshops in contemporary writing that includes lectures, readings, workshops, and panels featuring nationally distinguished authors who join the Department’s summer faculty. Graduate students in the program will assist in planning and running the Conference, and will have the option of taking a Conference workshop for credit. The Writers Conference also encourages participation by visiting students—new writers, established writers, teachers of writing, and editors—who will be admitted by application and may receive academic credit upon request.

Stony Brook Manhattan

MFA courses are regularly taught in the fall and spring semester at Stony Brook Manhattan. Stony Brook Manhattan is conveniently located at 28th Street and Park Avenue South. The location is easy to reach by bus, train, and subway.

The Southampton Review

The Southampton Review (TSR), sponsored by the MFA Program in Writing and Literature at Stony Brook Southampton, is a carefully edited, beautifully designed journal dedicated to publishing fine fiction, nonfiction, poetry, and art. TSR focuses on work by students and graduates of the MFA program and from the Southampton Writers Conference, but we do open our pages to writers from across the globe whose work is compelling. Our pages are equally devoted to writers whose voices are fresh as well as to those whose are well-established.

Admission

Application for admission to the Graduate School is made to a specific degree. For the MFA in Writing and Literature, applicants must fulfill both the Graduate School admission requirements and the specific requirements for the MFA in Writing and Literature. See sections I and II for details on these requirements. Application forms may be found online at www.grad.sunysb.edu/prospective/applying/index.shtml. Please note that applications for Admission to the MFA in Writing and Literature are made to the MFA in Writing and Literature program and not to the Graduate School.

Completed applications should be mailed to:
MFA in Writing and Literature

Southampton, NY 11968
Phone: (631) 632-5030

Application Deadline:
The MFA program in Writing and Literature accepts applications for admission on a rolling basis. To receive full consideration for admission with financial support, completed admission and financial aid applications should be filed by January 15 for the fall semester and October 1 for the spring semester.

I. M.F.A. in Writing and Literature Admission Requirements

Applicants for the MFA program in Writing and Literature must have a bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university. The program accepts applications from candidates whose undergraduate degrees were taken in areas other than the humanities.

Admission to the program is based on the evaluation of a portfolio of the applicant’s writing, made in conjunction with a review of the candidate’s entire academic career, and letters of recommendation. The portfolio may include works in any written form including creative non-fiction, fiction, poetry, scriptwriting, or other genre. Results from the Graduate Record Examination are encouraged, but not required.

In addition to the Graduate School admission requirements, the MFA in Writing and Literature requires the following:

- Letters of recommendation from three instructors or writing professionals familiar with your written work.
- A statement discussing your reasons for graduate study (one to two pages, may be submitted with the online application)
- A writing sample consisting of up to 10 pages of poetry (single-spaced, stapled) or 30 pages of prose (double-spaced, stapled); your name should appear on the writing sample
• A single sheet listing your address, phone number, e-mail address, and title(s) of submission(s)
• A copy of your résumé or C.V. (may be submitted with the online application)

Any deficiencies in these or the Graduate School admission requirements will not automatically bar admission, but it is understood that inadequacies in undergraduate preparation normally will require the student to take additional work, the amount to be determined by the appropriate graduate advisory committee. Additional work may not be used to fulfill MFA degree requirements.

CWL 588 Independent Study
Independent studies in topics chosen by the student are arranged through an individual instructor.
Prerequisites: Permission of instructor and program director
1-3 credits, S/U grading
May be repeated once for credit

CWL 599 Thesis
Every student in the M.F.A. program in Writing must complete a thesis that is a publishable, book-length work. It may be fiction, non-fiction, poetry, or a script for the visual media. It may be a collection of short pieces. Its subject matter may be scientific or literary. It may be business-oriented or academic. The thesis is judged solely on the quality of its intelligence and its writing. Every student will, with the assistance of the program director, choose a thesis supervisor to provide guidance and criticism in the completion of the project. At the same time that the thesis supervisor is chosen, the program director will also guide the student in the selection of a thesis committee, which will consist of the thesis supervisor, one other member of the faculty in Writing, and one outside reader knowledgeable in the student’s field of interest. Progress toward the completion of the thesis will be reviewed not only by the thesis supervisor but also by members of the thesis committee.
Prerequisites: Permission of thesis advisor and program director
Offered every semester, 1-9 credits, S/U grading
May be repeated once for up to 12 credits
